Evolution to launch revolutionary new Roulette game and more at ICE 2018

Evolution Gaming, leading provider of Live Casino solutions, is today unveiling a host of new products at ICE 2018 (6–8 February at ExCeL London), including the revolutionary new Lightning Roulette game.

Evolution Lightning Roulette is a unique extended Roulette game that is sure to light up the Live Casino experience for Evolution licensees and their players. All the usual Roulette bets are there – and much more. In Lightning Roulette, every game round also features 1–5 randomly generated lucky numbers. Better still, randomly generated lucky payouts of between 50:1 and 500:1 are paid for Straight Up bets placed on each round's lucky numbers. The game setting and UI are equally electrifying. Lightning bolts and sound effects add to the tension, setting the scene for a thrilling Live Roulette experience.

According to Todd Haushalter, Evolution's Chief Product Officer, Lightning Roulette is "sure to be the talk of show at ICE. Everyone who has seen it is simply blown away – both players and industry veterans alike. We have worked hard to create a game that players will love and can't wait for them to start enjoying it".

Haushalter goes on to say, "This is the most complex product we have ever done, but all that complexity is hidden from the players, who only see that each round, between one and five numbers are struck by lightning and given magnified pay outs of 50x – 500x. To do this we combined digital random number generators with the Live Roulette wheel, which has never been done before. The studio itself is also incredibly advanced."

Evolution will also premier its Salon Privé, which is a collection of Roulette and Blackjack games dedicated to super-VIP players. Created at the company's primary studio in Riga, Evolution's all-new Salon Privé is set to be the most luxurious way to play table games online.

Haushalter added, "This has never been done before because it is so difficult to achieve operationally. We are offering players unprecedented levels of control over the game at totally private, single-player Roulette and Blackjack tables. From choosing their favourite dealer, to changing the cards to being in charge of the game speed, the players can control all of this and more. Our mission with the Salon Privé is to provide the sort of 'white glove' service that is offered in the private gaming salons of Las Vegas."

Two further new games being showcased at ICE – Dragon Tiger and No Commission Baccarat – are aimed primarily at Baccarat devotees and will extend the appeal of Evolution's already extensive Live Baccarat range.

Visitors to the Evolution stand can also learn more about the company's recent new studio launch in Canada and the upcoming Georgia studio launch. They can also get right up to date with the HTML5 update of the Evolution live games portfolio, which is fast approaching completion.

Summarising the appeal of Evolution's stand at ICE 2018, Haushalter added: "We take our market leadership position very seriously and our ICE line-up reflects that. Our partners expect us to serve their mass market players, high-limit players, even their poker, bingo, and slot customers, and to continually dazzle their players with new and interesting ways to play online. We worked really hard to deliver all these
