Evolution launches Infinite Blackjack with unlimited seats for players

Evolution Gaming, leading provider of Live Casino solutions, has announced the launch of its first totally scalable Live Blackjack table. Evolution's Live Infinite Blackjack adds a unique twist of the traditional Blackjack game to the company's extensive live table games portfolio, while providing an unlimited number of seats at a single Blackjack table.

Available on desktop, tablet and smartphone, Infinite Blackjack is an innovative solution that guarantees players a Blackjack seat at all times, in contrast to traditional Blackjack tables where only seven seats are available at each table.

Online players take their virtual seats at the table, with a mix of physical and virtual cards being dealt in real time by a professional live dealer. A limitless number of players are dealt the same initial two-card hand, but thereafter each player can make their own betting decisions and end with a different hand. Throughout the game players can interact with the dealer, just like in a real casino.

Todd Haushalter, Chief Product Officer at Evolution, said: "With Infinite Blackjack we finally cracked the code on how to make a one-to-many Blackjack game fun and without having to make any rule changes. We did this using advanced game software, that combines the live dealing of physical cards and virtual cards directly to each individual player. This enables the dealing of individual hands for each player at the table, irrespective of how many players there are at any given time."

Haushalter added: "I am really proud of the team at Evolution who worked on this. It truly shows how we are using all sorts of complex innovations, mostly hidden from the player, to make the Live Blackjack playing experience as good as it can be for the maximum number of online players. With this game now completed, Evolution has a platform for developing further great Blackjack innovations, all which I believe will add to players' enjoyment of the game."

Live Infinite Blackjack streams live from Evolution's primary central studios in Riga and is available now to all Evolution licensees.
